The hurt is still quite painful.—Maitland Herald.

—Fearing that her father, Jacob Book, would be hurt by his team which became unmanageable in the street last Friday, Mrs. Christi Miles, who was standing near, fainted away. Her condition was critical for a short time, owing to heart trouble with which she has been afflicted for several years. She revived sufficient to be conveyed home, but has since been in a weakened condition. At the time of the mishap with the horses, Mr. Book was kicked on the left leg by one of the animals and narrowly escaped a broken limb.—Jeffersonian.

—We learn as we are about to go to press that Wm. Adams has traded his store for 40 acres of land, 3 1/2 miles northwest of Mound City. The consideration for the goods was $1,100 and for the land $2,500. The farm is well improved and was owned by T. H. Hines. The deal was made through the agency of Arch. Kruse of Mound City. Our wish goes with Mr. Adams, who has good sense in investing in Holt county land, and we welcome Mr. Hines to Mound City. Mr. Adams retains his interest in the meat market.—Bigelow Enterprise.

—On last Saturday the editor had occasion to ride from Bigelow to Mound City in a hack. This piece of road has formerly had, and earned, the reputation of being the worst piece of public highway in Missouri. However, since early in the spring, the drag, as advocated by D. Ward King, of Maitland, has been used upon it, and now the ride is a pleasure, where formerly it was a thing to be avoided.—Savannah Democrat.

—The terrible rains and extreme cold, damp weather of Memorial Day made it impossible for our people to observe the day by appropriately decorating and otherwise caring for the graves of their loved ones. We suggest that they do this on June 11th, at which time the Odd Fellows will observe this as decoration day. Rev. Warner will be here and deliver the oration, and all members of Oregon lodge and visiting members are expected to be in line and participate in the beautiful exercises of the day.

—William W. McKinney, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Coyle, of Maitland, May 26th, 1903, in the 96th year of his age, and doubtless at the time of his death he was the oldest citizen in our county. He was born in Kentucky, Dec. 18, 1807. He has been a resident of this county for about fifteen years. He had been twice married, both of his wives having preceded him to the spirit world. He leaves seven children, 21 grand children and several great grand children. Services were conducted by Rev. Caldwell, the remains being laid to rest in the K. P. cemetery of Maitland.

—Next Monday evening will occur the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Maitland Improvement Association. Mr. Bohart has generously given the use of the opera house for these meetings, and they will be held there hereafter. Every one interested in the improvement and growth of Maitland should attend these meetings, as important subjects can thus be taken up and profitably considered. Among these are the grading of the road east of the river, the building of a viaduct across the Burlington road, and the fall festivities. Concerted action on such matters will result greatly to the advantage of all. Turn out and show the hustling qualities of Maitland.—Maitland Herald.

—W. K. DeBord died at his home in Andrew county at 8 o'clock last Tuesday morning, and was buried in the Gravel Wall grave yard. Mr. DeBord was 77 years old, and had been quite feeble for some time. He was a cousin of W. H. DeBord, of Maitland, and father of King DeBord, who married Daisy Cowan, and who died at his home near New Point, a few years ago.

—The storms during the past week have done much damage to orchards and out-buildings. Those whose orchards are damaged are: Henry Rosellius, Gus Wahler, Edward and William Schmutzer and John A. Buck's slightly. Mr. Buck had several windows blown out and Ed Schmutzer had the flue of his residence blown off. The Henry and Andrew Peters' orchards are somewhat damaged. Andrew Peter's new cow shed 60 feet long was carried from its original location 150 feet and the posts which are three feet in the ground were pulled out by the wind. The wind also played havoc with a strip of timber out east of town—falling quite a number. There are other damages which we have not heard of. Many of the pastures are under water, the cattle are being driven therefrom to higher land. John A. Buck is taking his cattle to his farm in Atchison county.—Craig Leader, May 29th.

Her Birthday.

On Thursday, May 28, 1902, we were again permitted to meet at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Prate Chesney, in honor of their son, Jesse, who has been absent for the past three years, also in honor of Mrs. Chesney's birthday, who, with the greatest ability for culinary art, knew just what it meant to prepare for such an occasion, and with the aid of her daughter, Mrs. David Sillard, could not have set a table more inviting for a king. We would have been at a loss to know where to begin had it not been for Grandpa Seifer, who knew how to take the lead at the head of such a well-filled and heavy laden table. All did ample justice at the table except Mrs. Jim Meyers who was seated at the first, second, third and one at the fourth table. Quitting was one of the principal amusements of the day. Music and social chat were indulged in. All had an enjoyable time. We all wish Mrs. Chesney many more such happy birthdays. Those present were: Grandpa Seifer and Mesdames Tilda Walker, John Stroud, Dan Grimes, Jim Quick, Mart McBee, David Stallard, C. W. Scott, John Glass, Dan Hahn, Potter, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Meyer and family, Misses Jennie Meyers, Cally Mariner, Grace Quick, Stella McBee, Nora Grimes.

At Rest.

Mrs. Alvia Nowles, formerly Miss Alvia Kunkel, died at her mother's home the 26th day of May, 1903. She was the daughter of John and Rebecca Kunkel, and was born in Holt county, July 27th, 1878, being at the time of her death, 24 years, 9 months and 29 days of age. On January 17th, 1898, she was united in holy matrimony to Samuel P. Nowles, and to this union one child was born, a sweet little boy, who with the father, mother, three sisters, seven brothers and a host of relatives and friends are left to mourn her loss. Her father, two sisters and two brothers having preceded her to the Spirit world. May God's love heal and soothe their wounded hearts, and a consolation of a grand reunion wipe away their tears.

Alvia had been a sufferer for some time, but was always patient, never complaining, would always meet you with a smile. She was known as a consistent loving wife and mother, reserved in her ways, and loved by all who with whom she was acquainted. She gave her heart to God, and said that she was ready to die, asking her friends one and all to meet her in heaven; then she peacefully passed away to sleep with Jesus.

The funeral services were conducted from the Benton Evangelical church by the pastor, Rev. Breitaupt. She was laid to rest in that beautiful cemetery to await the trumpet of the angel to wake her from her slumbers and with a body then purified will join the soul and live forever in bliss. X. X.

Card of Thanks.

Mother Kunkel and family, and Samuel P. Nowles, with the deepest sense of gratitude, thank those friends whose loving kindness was such a help and comfort to them in their bereavement. N.

Society.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bunker entertained a few friends at six o'clock dinner, last Thursday, complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Darsey, of Pueblo, Colorado. The color scheme was carried out with red candle shades and red roses. Covers were laid for Messrs and Mesdames Clyde Darsey, Pueblo, Frank Allen, Claude King and Willard Proud. Dainty souvenir memoranda books were at each place at the table with the name and date engraved thereon.

A few friends spent the evening last Thursday, with Mr. and Mrs. J. Evans, of Valley Falls, Kans., at the home of their son, H. A. and family. During the evening Mrs. Harvey Evans served refreshments in two courses. A very pleasant evening was spent.

Misses Maude and Daisy Alkire entertained a few friends at their home Monday evening of this week.

Memorial Service.

On last Sunday the memorial service for the G. A. R. was held at the Presbyterian church. Owing to the rainy weather the attendance was not large, but the several churches joined to make the service a success. A choir of good singers with well selected songs added to the interest of the service. There was a male quartet composed of old veterans, which was very impressive. Uncle Sam's flag was in evidence and there was no lack of patriotic manifestation and feeling.

Rev. McFarland, of the Presbyterian church, preached the sermon. The discourse was a masterly effort, eloquent and full of happy periods. Rev. McFarland got into the spirit of the occasion and the audience, in fancy, saw the old soldiers as they marched, as they went into battle, as they made the charge; the death on the field of battle; of the hero and the even greater hero at home—the wife, toiling and patiently waiting for the happy hour when loved ones should be reunited and the country saved, were all seen in panorama and memory made the past live again.

It was a fine discourse and an enjoyable occasion. Rev. McFarland was assisted in the service by Rev. Brock, of the M. E. church, Elder Biekle, of the Christian church and Elder Darsey, of Pueblo, Colorado.

A Quality to Cultivate.

A little boy went up Chestnut street in Philadelphia the other day, carrying a bag containing 3,500 pennies from a bank to his employer's office. The bag burst, the coppers were strewn about the street, and the boy set up a wail for help.

Traffic was suspended in that block. Scores of people stopped to help the boy find the pennies, and motormen checked their cars to aid. A good many must have gone into their own pockets rather than search the pavement. When the boy finally delivered his charge he had not only the 3,500 pennies with which he started, but 168 more.

A building was being torn down on Monroe street in Chicago. An old woman came, with others, to gather up the broken and discarded lumber. She made up a huge bundle, so large that she could not lift it upon her head to carry it away.

As she stood looking about for help, a man, who from his dress seemed to be a prosperous merchant or lawyer, came along and saw her difficulty. At the same time a truckman saw it, and descended from his seat. The two men lifted the bundle, helped the old woman to balance it, and then went their ways while she went hers.

It was done as a matter of course, with no posing or professions, just as the search for the boy's lost pennies was undoubtedly conducted in Philadelphia. There was the need, and it was met by the first comers in the prompt and kindly American way.

Prince Henry, of Prussia, and other foreign observers, whose station and duties have given them opportunities to note the conduct of street crowds in many nations, have said that the American crowd is the most good-humored and kindest in the world. Such incidents as those recited above prove the accuracy of the observation.

This kindness is a quality of which the American people may well be proud, and which we ought to cultivate even more. If it were deliberately extended there would be less heckling of employers by trade unions, less vituperation of unions by employers, fewer strikes and lock-outs, less industrial warfare, less danger to prosperity, and more peace and profit for us all.
